To find out more about the data collection requirements placed on us by the Department for Education (for example; via the school census) go to:

Dept for Education - School Census.

The National Pupil Database (NPD)

The NPD is owned and managed by the DfE and contains information about pupils in schools in England. It provides invaluable evidence on educational performance to inform independent research, as well as studies commissioned by the DfE. It is held in electronic format for statistical purposes. This information is securely collected from a range of sources including schools, Local Authorities, and awarding bodies.

We are required by law, to provide information about our pupils to the DfE as part of statutory data collections such as the school census and early years' census. Some of this information is then stored in NPD National Pupil Database. The law that allows this is the Education (Information About Individual Pupils) (England) Regulations 2013.

The DfE may share information about our pupils from the NPD with third parties who promote the education or well-being of children in England by:

- conducting research or analysis
- producing statistics
- providing information, advice or guidance

The DfE has robust processes in place to ensure the confidentiality of our data is maintained and there are stringent controls in place regarding access and use of the data. Decisions on whether DfE releases data to third parties are subject to a strict approval process and based on a detailed assessment of:

- who is requesting the data
- the purpose for which it is required
- the level and sensitivity of data requested: and
- the arrangements in place to store and handle the data

To be granted access to pupil information, organisations must comply with strict terms and conditions covering the confidentiality and handling of the data, security arrangements and retention and use of the data.

Some of the organisations referred to above are joint data controllers. This means we are all responsible to you for how we process your data. In the event that we share personal data about parents / carers and students with third parties, we will provide the minimum amount of personal data necessary to fulfil the purpose for which we are required to share the data.

For more information, see the Department's web page how it collects and shares research data. You can also contact the Dept for Education with any further questions about the NPD.

Requesting access to personal data

Under data protection legislation, parents / carers have the right to request access to information about you that we hold ("Subject Access Request"). To make a request for your personal data, please contact the Data Protection Officer (dpo@thatrust.org.uk) although any written request for personal data will be treated as a Subject Access Request. The legal timescales for the Howard Academy Trust to respond to a Subject Access Request is one calendar month. As the Trust has limited staff resources outside of term time, we encourage parents / carers to submit Subject Access Requests during term time and to avoid sending a request during periods when the Trust or Schools within the Trust are closed or is about to close for the holidays where possible. This will assist us in responding to your request as promptly as possible. For further information about how we handle Subject Access Requests, please see the Trust Data Protection Policy.

Requesting access to your child's data

Parents / carers have a legal right to access their child's educational record. Parents / carers can make a request with respect to their child's data where the child is not considered mature enough to understand their rights over their own data (usually children under the age of 13), or where the child has provided consent.

No fee usually required

You will not have to pay a fee to access your child's or your personal information (or to exercise any of the other rights). However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request for access is manifestly unfounded or excessive. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with the request in such circumstances.

What we may need from you

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access the information (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is another appropriate security measure to ensure that personal information is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. You also have the right to:

- object to processing of personal data that is likely to cause, or is causing, damage or distress;
- prevent processing for the purpose of direct marketing;
- object to decisions being taken by automated means;
- in certain circumstances, have inaccurate personal data rectified, blocked, erased or destroyed; and
- claim compensation for damages caused by a breach of our data protection responsibilities.

5. Right to withdraw consent

In the limited circumstances where you may have provided your consent to the collection, processing and transfer of your personal information for a specific purpose, you have the right to withdraw your consent for that specific processing at any time. To withdraw your consent, please contact the Headteacher. Once we have received notification that you have withdrawn your consent, we will no longer process your information for the purpose or purposes you originally agreed to, unless we have another legitimate basis for doing so in law.
